Dear Andrew Goldsweig,

Thank you for your query.

Please note that, as one of the authors of this article, you retain the right to reuse it in your thesis/dissertation. You do not require formal permission to do so. You are permitted to post this Elsevier article online if it is embedded within your thesis. You are also permitted to post your Author Accepted Manuscript online.

However posting of the final published article is prohibited.

“As per our [Sharing Policy \[elsevier.com\]](#), authors are permitted to post the Accepted version of their article on their institutional repository – as long as it is for internal institutional use only.

It can only be shared publicly on that site once the journal-specific embargo period has lapsed. For a list of embargo periods please see: [Embargo List \[elsevier.com\]](#).

You are not permitted to post the Published Journal Article (PJA) on the repository.”

Please feel free to contact me if you have any queries.

Regards,

kaveri

To Elsevier:

I am completing my master's degree thesis at the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC), and I would like to include content from my article published in the American Journal of Cardiology on 9/1/2019 entitled "The Evolving Management of Aortic Valve Disease: 5-Year Trends in SAVR, TAVR, and Medical Therapy." UNMC requires students to "upload proof of the publisher's permission when submitting the thesis to the DigitalCommons@UNMC. Note: Journals are routinely asked for permission to include published materials in student theses." Could you help me to obtain written proof of Elsevier's permission for me to use material from this article in my thesis?

Thank you so much,
Andy Goldsweig
