

Automatic reply: Reuse request and thanks

CONTRACTS-COPYRIGHT (shared) <Contracts-Copyright@rsc.org>

Sun 8/21/2016 14:13

To: Wang, Yan <yan.wang@unmc.edu>;

Thank you very much for your email.

Permission requests from this mailbox shall be processed for the following requests:

- permission request for Royal Society of Chemistry books, Learn Chemistry publications, policy documents; and
- legal deposit claims will processed as soon as possible.

Standard journal permission requests

If your request is to reproduce material from Royal Society of Chemistry journals (except Chemistry World and Education in Chemistry) these requests should now be processed using RightsLink and you will not receive a reply to your email unless the email is about a problem you are experiencing RightsLink.

If you are an academic or you are reproducing Royal Society of Chemistry material in a publication to be published by an STM Publisher you will be granted the permission for free. The STM Publishers are those who have signed up to the STM Guidelines on Permission and include publishers such as the American Chemical Society, Elsevier, Springer and Wiley. You will also obtain the permission for free if you are reproducing the figure in a thesis or dissertation. Please visit <http://www.rsc.org/Publishing/Copyright/instructions-for-using-RightsLink.asp> for details.

Please note that express permission is not needed for the following type of request as long as the original Royal Society of Chemistry publication is fully acknowledged. The types of request are:

- authors wishing to reproduce their own figures in another publication (Royal Society of Chemistry and non-Royal Society of Chemistry publications, including a theses);
- authors writing a journal article or book chapter for an Royal Society of Chemistry publication wishing to reproduce figures from other Royal Society of Chemistry publications; and
- authors wishing to reproduce their own papers in their thesis. In these cases please inform your co-authors that you are reproducing the paper in your thesis.

You may also go to <http://rsc.li/permissions> for further information.

NIH mandate

Requests to include papers in PubMed as a result of the NIH mandate should be sent to the relevant journal. Please also see <http://www.rsc.org/journals-books-databases/open-access/green-open-access/#nih> <<http://www.rsc.org/journals-books-databases/open-access/green-open-access/>> for information.

Regards

Gill Cockhead
Publishing Contracts & Copyright Executive

DISCLAIMER:

This communication (including any attachments) is intended for the use of the addressee only and may contain confidential, privileged or copyright material. It may not be relied upon or disclosed to any other person without the consent of The Royal Society of Chemistry. If you have received it in error, you must not copy or show it to anyone; please contact us immediately by replying to this email and highlighting the error. Any advice given by The Royal Society of Chemistry has been carefully formulated but is necessarily based on the information available, and The Royal Society of Chemistry cannot be held responsible for accuracy or completeness. In this respect, any views or opinions presented in this email are solely those of the author and may not represent those of The Royal Society of Chemistry.

The Royal Society of Chemistry owes no duty of care and shall not be liable for any resulting damage or loss as a result of the use of this email and/or attachments. The Royal Society of Chemistry acknowledges that a disclaimer cannot restrict liability at law for personal injury or death arising through a finding of negligence. The Royal Society of Chemistry does not warrant that its emails or attachments are Virus-free: Please rely on your own screening. The Royal Society of Chemistry is a charity, registered in England and Wales, Number 207890, and a company incorporated in England by Royal Charter (Registered No. RC000524) Registered office: Burlington House, Piccadilly, London W1J 0BA, Telephone: 0207 4378 6556, Facsimile: 0207 4490 3393 (Head Office).